

25 IDEAS TO JUMPSTART YOUR BUSINESS

Business Travel Management

If you love planning, business travel management may be the thing for you. Help businesses find the most cost-effective travel. Be sure to keep thorough expense records and frequent flier miles.

Career Coach

Help people land the career of their dreams. Work with a diverse group of clients and teach career readiness. Through career coaching, help individuals improve their resumes, prepare for interviews, and enhance their attire.

Care Provider

Providing care for individuals who need assistance can incorporate a myriad of tasks. Your service can maintain an individual's independence by running errands and conducting chores.

Cleaning Service

For the person who is always on the go offering a cleaning service would be the perfect fit. While prices vary depending on the company, this service can possibly make $30 to $40 per hour.

Editorial Services

Have a passion for writing and editing? Businesses, writers, and bloggers can use your attention to detail to proofread their content. Provide value for their brand by enhancing their written communication.

Event Planner

If you love to plan and organize meetings and special occasion, event planning may be just the thing for you. Turn your passion into profits by assisting individuals with their planning needs.

Executive Job Searcher

Your job is to find the right person for a business that has a job availability. You are responsible for the promotion of the job, screening candidates and conducting interviews.

Graphic Designer

Central to every business is promotion. Thus, businesses are always looking for innovative ways to spread brand awareness. Utilize your creative gifts by designing original designs that gives your client a competitive edge.

Mystery Shopper

Offer your services to a local store, restaurant, etc. By becoming a mystery shopper you can give these businesses an inside look of what customers experience. Be sure to rate customer service and the quality of service.

Office Relocation Service

Businesses often relocate to new areas or buildings. Why not take advantage and provide a service that helps acquaint them with the local area.

Office Support Service

Aid a business in a variety of ways such as: typing, filing, sorting mail, data entry or answering phones. You can offer various packages for such services or charge by the hour.

Online Internet Researcher

Gather important information, data or statistics for companies. By providing this service you save them time and energy.

Personal Chef

For the individual who loves to cook, becoming a personal chef allows you to utilize your culinary talents. The individual who is always on the go will benefit from your service and may even spread the word to others.

Personal Trainer

If you love to work out, why not make a profit off of your abilities? Many individuals want to be physically fit but lack the motivation to so. Personal trainers provide the inspiration they need and help them achieve their desired results.

Pet Sitting

Pet lovers often have difficulty finding accommodations for their pet when having to travel or work. Why not remedy this problem by becoming a pet sitter? Not only will owners feel better about their pet remaining at home, but you will be able to provide a needed service.

Project Management Services

Help companies complete their projects on time and on budget. Often companies may not have the time or resources to contribute themselves.

Photography

Love taking pictures of various scenes and people? Photography is a great way to express your creativity and get paid. Not only can you generate clients but you can sell your photos to different companies and receive a commission per download.

Retail Service

Although offering retail services is the more traditional route, it can still be profitable for you. Determine ways to make your business stand out from your competition by offering something unique.

Restaurant Delivery Service

Target restaurants that currently do not have a delivery service. You can offer your services and collect a delivery charge and a tip!

Public Relations Manager

Increase a business's brand awareness by starting your own PR Firm. For this industry you must possess advanced writing composition skills and media relations.

Sales Lead Generator

Help a business gain more revenue by generating prospects and sales leads. By composing a list of potential sponsors you could increase the sales of a business while putting money in your pocket.

Seminar Promoter

Businesses love to have inspirational seminars for employees. Ease their burden by scheduling speakers, planning and promoting.

Social Media Consultant

Social media is an essential instrument that every business needs to engage in. So why not capitalize this need by making a profit. Assist businesses by advising them on the best practices of social media or crafting their social media platform. With so many tools geared towards social media management, staying organized should be relatively simple.

Valet Parking Service

Add value to a restaurant by proposing a valet service where it currently does not exist. Most restaurants love the opportunity to add an upscale service to their business.

Virtual Assistant

Do you have a strong background in administrative and clerical work? If so, becoming a virtual assistant may be a great opportunity to utilize your expertise. Virtual assistants help business owners, managers with various tasks that they do not have time for. And the great part is, you can work from home!

BBC NOTE: These ideas are meant to serve as inspiration. You should always conduct extensive research to decide which venture is right for you. Before implementing an idea it is a good idea to determine what types of business licenses you need and legal contracts.